Bad Design – 5 Issues

1. Low Contrast & Poor Readability
   The light background with faded white text makes the content hard to read. Important details like price and description are not clearly visible.

2. Weak Visual Hierarchy
   The heading, description, and price do not stand out properly. There is no strong emphasis guiding the user's attention.

3. Too Much Empty Space
   Large unused spaces on the right side make the layout feel incomplete and unbalanced.

4. Limited Product Information
   Only one product variation is visible, reducing user engagement and comparison options.

5. Navigation is Unclear
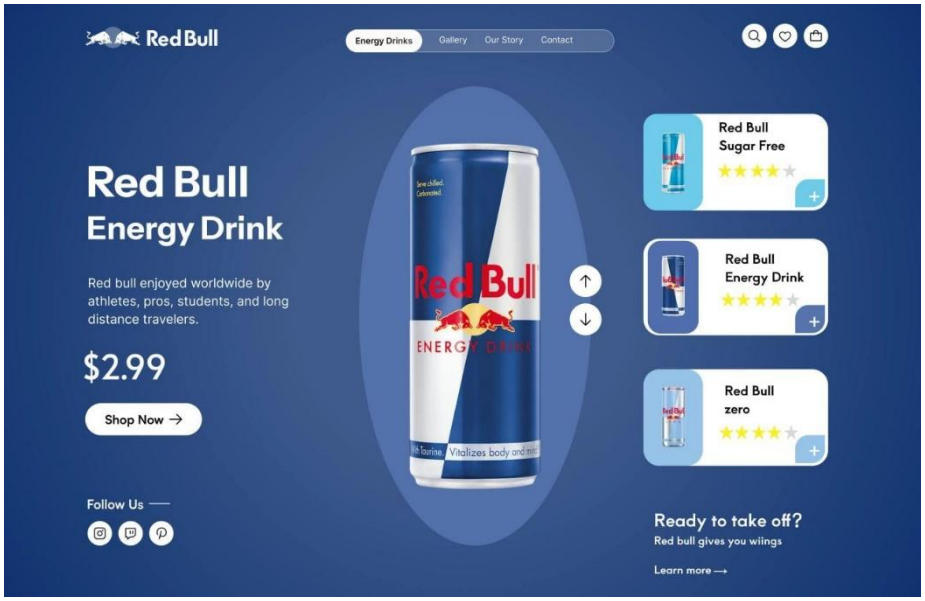
   There is no clear top navigation bar or category menu, which makes the website look less professional and harder to explore.



Good Design – 5 Improvements

1. Strong Color Contrast
   The dark blue background improves text visibility and makes the product stand out clearly.
2. Clear Visual Hierarchy
   The product name, description, price, and button are properly structured, making it easy for users to scan information.
3. Balanced Layout
   The design is evenly spaced with proper alignment, making it look organized and professional.
4. Multiple Product Options Displayed
   Showing different variants (Sugar Free, Zero, etc.) increases usability and gives users more choices.
5. Better Navigation & Icons
   The top navigation bar and icons (search, cart, favorites) improve user experience and make the interface interactive.
